Communication Protocols

Information about the types of messages that can be passed to and from stroker devices.

- TCode

TCode

Toy Code (often stylized as T-code or TCode) is the main protocol for implementing communications with an open source stroker. It is partly influenced by G-code, which is an alphanumeric format used to control 3D printers.

(Spec TBD)